

Cleo Trust™

Secure email for all of your business needs

Can you trust that the critical information you email will reach its intended recipient—intact, reliably, and securely? The Cleo Trust solution enables your users to securely communicate via email with customers, prospects, business partners, and employees outside your company firewall—without having to worry about encrypting attachments, determining whether the attachments are too large, and verifying that files were received by the recipient. The Cleo Trust solution handles it all with ease.

Integrates with Any Email System

The Cleo Trust solution seamlessly integrates with your existing email system. Whether you're using Microsoft Outlook, Lotus Notes, or any other email product or service, the Cleo Trust solution will become a critical addition for your users.

The consequences for not encrypting email attachments when required to do so by regulations or industry best practices can include costly fines, potential lawsuits, and loss of trust from your customers.

Maintain Corporate Standards

Maintain corporate IT standards needed to protect your data and assure compliance. The Cleo Trust is a powerful, on-premise system designed to handle small or large file attachments while delivering the security and governance needs of today's enterprise.

Gain Quick User Acceptance

The Cleo Trust product is extremely easy to learn and easy to use. Users are up and running with minimal training. With the Microsoft Outlook plug-in and simplified web interface, training a new user takes less than 5 minutes.

Highly Scalable, On-Premise Solution

The Cleo Trust solution scales to meet enterprise-wide requirement, and meets your availability needs with fail-safe redundant architecture. Put your company back in control of where your sensitive data resides and who can access it. You can choose to store shared files on premise or in a public or private cloud.
